And Country

By TIMOTHEUS T.

THERE'S A SINGLE BENCH up in the court room, where the judges mete out justice, but downstairs, out in the west court yard, are six benches.

Aud Barrett was telling me about them.

As you know, elderly men who have passed their working years sometimes have difficulties in knowing what to do. So a number of them come uptown and loaf together on the west side of the court house.

Benches were needed but the price of getting them was a bit high—$27.50, to be exact, for a half-dozen benches. Two were secured at Stonefort, one at Eldorado and the rest here, and the cost of the benches, plus transportation for some, amounted to the $27.50.

But the men got them. Mr. Barrett said that Lloyd L. Parker contributed $20 to the benches and that the men themselves dug up the rest.

THE SEPTEMBER ISSUE of Holiday magazine features a story about Illinois, which the author calls "The most American of All States," and seeks to give the reason why.

It's a lengthy article, by Clyde Brion Davis, covering 18 pages of print and pictures, and it's real interesting.

Illinois is a big state; so not too much space is devoted to southern Illinois, and for the most part I was disappointed with what it said about our part of the country. Instead of going into such phases as community development, of our scenic spots, the author has to go back to those time-worn stories about the Herrin massacre of 1922 and other phases of "Bloody Williamson" like the S. Glenn Young days and Charlie Birger. Believe the growth and the functions of Southern Illinois University and something about the big, man-made Crab Orchard lake would have been more pertinent in this issue of September, 1956.

But I guess these big city writers, when they get down among us, find the temptation too great and expound at length about the "Bloody Williamson" days.

Besides Herrin and Marion, the author mentions that a young filling station attendant at Goreville told him no Negroes are allowed in the town, but fails to say anything about Ferne Clyffe state park, a wonderful spot three or four miles distant; he tells of Buncombe, "a dreary-looking village with unpainted and sagging wooden awnings over the sidewalk; and Cairo. He gives a few nice words about Cairo, saying its region is a haven for Canadian geese and geese hunters, and that the city has an attraction in its Magnolia Manor.

There are 26 pictures accompanying the story and the only ones showing anything south of Vandalia depict cotton picking and fishing near Cairo.

State Approves School to Train Practical Nurses at the HTHS

Announcement was made today that a school for the training of students to become licensed practical nurses at the Harrisburg Township high school had been approved by the State Board of Nurse Education and Nurse Registration and the Vocational Division of the State Department of Education.

Under the set-up the school will be operated by the High School Board of Education with funds provided by the State and Federal Governments and private subscriptions. The high school board will provide classroom facilities, but will not assume any financial responsibility.

The Harrisburg school is one of the five such schools in the state outside of Chicago and will provide the training necessary to qualify women for the state board examination to become licensed practical nurses.

Young women qualifying for the school will spend 17 weeks in actual classroom instruction at the high school, and 31 weeks in clinical experience in approved hospitals throughout the Harrisburg area.

It is expected that students will be drawn from Saline, Hardin, Gallatin, Pope and White counties.

Mrs. Shirley Oshel, R.N., formerly of Harrisburg, will serve as coordinator of nurses, and will give classroom instruction. Mrs. Oshel who is a graduate of St. Anthony's Hospital School of Nursing in Terre Haute, Ind., has had considerable experience in nursing which includes general, surgical and central supply experience.

STEAK AND BEANS were on the menu as the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs held a joint dinner meeting Tuesday evening. ## Harrisburg Is Better Than You Think, Dr. Webb Tells Local Clubs

Addresses Joint Meeting of Rotarians And Kiwanians

Members of the Harrisburg Kiwanis and Rotary clubs went away from a joint meeting of the two clubs Tuesday evening with a feeling of pride in the city of Harrisburg and determined to give Harrisburg a "pat on the back instead of a kick."

The Rotary and Kiwanis club members had heard an address by Dr. L. I. Webb on business conditions in Harrisburg, with the speaker giving facts and figures based on actual conversations with the heads of many business enterprises in the city. Dr. Webb chose at the title of his talk "Harrisburg Is Better Than You Think" and he had figures to back up the text.

For a starter, the speaker pointed out that we live in an area with an abundance of natural resources—coal, oil, gas, fertile soil, etc.—that Harrisburg has beautiful churches, excellent schools, low crime rate, high spiritual atmosphere, educated, progressive thinking people, a high percentage of self owned homes, good highways leading in all directions, the highest farm productivity in history, and a progressive shopping district with beautiful stores.

Optimistic View

Referring to the businesses in Harrisburg, Dr. Webb stated he had interviewed persons in positions of authority and responsibility in the firms and found practically everyone to have an optimistic view of Harrisburg's future.

Some of the things pointed out in the various businesses were: Harrisburg Dairy—Has 97 employees and operation expenses of the dairy are $185,000 per month. Of this amount $80,000 is paid to farmers for raw milk. The company's gasoline bill is $2,500 per month;

Ford Brick and Tile—Sends its products into four states and has 30 employees. Has hopes for expansion;

Daily Register—Has 31 inside employees and 47 carrier boys and girls. Total distribution of 7,100 each day. Since 1951 has made an additional investment in building and equipment of $140,000;

Tison and Hall Concrete Products—Employs 18 to 20 people, send products into four states and has yearly sales from $284,000 to $300,000;

Smith Packing—Has 60 full time employees. Delivers meat products over a radius of 100 miles from Harrisburg and last year did $1,250,000 business;

Mayor Claud Gibbons told the Harrisburg city council yesterday that a meeting of persons objecting to the New York Central's application to remove Harrisburg-Chicago passenger service will be held at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday, Aug. 14, at the American Legion hall in Mt. Carmel.

Mayor Gibbons said that all persons who have information on how retention of the train will benefit them and how its removal will be harmful is invited to attend.

If these persons cannot attend, he continued, they may type out their statements and give them to the mayor, who plans to attend.

Council Plans Two Uptown Parking Areas

Attorney Prepares Leases, Ordinances To Secure Lots

The Harrisburg city council yesterday took definite action to provide two uptown parking lots that will alleviate the parking problem in the buying area.

City Attorney George B. Lee had prepared leases and ordinances for the city to secure the lot between Poplar and Locust where the Kurto store building now stands at 102 West Poplar and the lot between Poplar and Locust immediately east of the Womack hotel.

The ordinances which empower the council to execute leases with the owners was given first reading and placed on file for final action at the next meeting in two weeks.

Five Year Leases

Council members have been concerned about the lack of uptown parking places, especially on Fridays and Saturdays, and plan to blacktop the areas and place parking meters on them as soon as possible.

If the ordinances are passed, and the action is expected, the city will enter into five year leases with the owners, and have options to renew under the same terms for another five years.

The West Poplar lots are owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gaskins and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hallock, the lots on East Poplar by Mrs. Guy Patterson and her son, Guy K. Patterson.

The leases call for them to be effective when the city obtains possession of them.

Other action at yesterday's council meeting included:

Harrison Kibler, employed at the pumping stations, told the council that mud and silt has accumulated to a great degree at the pumping station on Middle Fork, where water is pumped outside the levee in times of extreme rain, and said they should be cleaned out before fall rains begin. He was authorized to get bids from persons who could take a drag line in and clean out the impediment to the operation.

Levee Ordinances Or File

The annual levee ordinance was read and placed on file. It will be up for passage in two weeks. The appropriation ordinance was passed several weeks ago.

After a discussion about the new addition to the local water treatment plant, which still has its leaks, the council directed Atty. Lee to write letters to both the contractor, the Triangle Construction Co. of Carbondale, and the engineer, George Sodermann of Champaign, informing them that the city was not accepting the job because of leaks. Triangle insists it has done the job exactly according to the engineer's specifications, it was brought out.

The council voted to buy 500 feet of new fire hose to replace old hose that is rotting and leaking.

Hodge Attorneys Disclose Plan for Ex-Auditor to Turn Over All Assets to Morey

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Orville E. Hodge's attorney today disclosed a plan to turn all of the ex-auditor's assets over to his successor, Lloyd Morey, to make restitution to the state for Hodge's million-dollar raid on the state treasury.

The attorney, Arthur M. Fitzgerald, said Hodge's assets should total between $650,000 and $700,000 and that Atty. Gen. Latham Castle is agreeable to the plan to turn them over to Morey.

Meanwhile, a former Hodge aide pictured his ex-boss as a man so open-handed he put phantom payrolls on the state payrolls for a total of about $2,000 a month and once gave a typewriter right out of the auditor's office to a politician friend.

Fitzgerald said the plans for turning over all of Hodge's assets to Morey had been discussed by Castle and Shafer O'Neill, attorney for Hodge's wife, Margaret.

He said making Morey trustee of the assets would enable the state to get more of its money back than if the assets, including Hodge's Fort Lauderdale, Fla., hotel, other real estate and uncashed checks, were "just put on the block for quick sale."

Fitzgerald said Hodge was agreeable to the plan and was resigned to coming out of the scandal in his office "completely broken."

Castle told the United Press the plan originated in a discussion with O'Neill in which Mrs. Hodge, through O'Neill, offered to turn over to the state any of her assets which might have been purchased with state money.

Castle said he then suggested that these assets of Mrs. Hodge, along with those of Hodge might be turned over to Morey "either as trustee or state auditor."

He said Mrs. Hodge was agreeable to this and that she said "she didn't want any properties that may have been purchased with state money."

He said "Mrs. Hodge has been very cooperative" in the state's effort to recover its money.

Castle said the plan was still under consideration.

Fitzgerald said Hodge had told him there is no danger of his committing suicide as a result of the scandal that drove him from office and ruined his ambitions to be governor.

The story of Hodge's alleged payroll irregularities and open-handedness to political pals came from Lloyd Lane, former payroll accounting division chief under Hodge.

Lane told J. Waldo Ackerman Jr., an assistant to State's Attorney George P. Coutrakon, checks were mailed each month to persons who never showed up for work in the auditor's office and who never did any work.

Stevenson's Gamble on Civil Rights Angers Southern Delegates

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION HEADQUARTERS, Chicago (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson gambled his Southern support today against a chance to deliver a quick knockout to Gov. Averell Harriman in their fight for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Some of the Democratic pros from the north viewed Stevenson's strategy on civil rights as part of a grand plan to cut the ground from under Harriman and, at the same time, to improve his chances for victory in November.

But there also was a suggestion that any such maneuver might backfire and throw next week's Democratic national convention into a deadlock. A stalemate would enhance the chances of a dark horse candidate emerging with the nomination.

Stevenson took his gamble by advocating a civil rights platform plank expressing "unequivocal approval" of the Supreme Court decision outlawing segregated schools.

Southern delegates, most of whom were uncommitted but pro-Stevenson, reacted with disappointment, shock or anger. They viewed it as an unexpected switch from his "moderation" stand.

"The biggest blunder since 'Rum, Romanism and Rebellion,'" said one Southern moderate in a reference to the phrase which is supposed to have caused James G. Blaine to lose a presidential election to Grover Cleveland.

Whether or not a blunder, Stevenson's action jeopardized if it did not forfeit much of his support in the South. From the South, Stevenson backers were counting on 214 of the 686 1-2 convention votes needed to win the nomination.

Southern delegates already are talking of swinging their votes to Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson or Sen. Stuart Symington, favorite son candidates from Texas and Missouri, respectively.

Pledges Report To People if Health a Bar

President Hopes For Suez Settlement Without Force

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower disclosed today he will undergo another physical examination before the November election to make sure there has been no change in his fitness for a second term.

He pledged once again to tell the people if he has any reason to believe his health bars him from carrying through another four years in the White House.

Mr. Eisenhower made the statements at regular weekly news conference in which questioning reflected mounting interest in the coming presidential election. The President is assured of a second term nomination.

He said he has no plans for a vacation other than to remain in the San Francisco area three or four days after the GOP convention. He plans to go to the convention on its last day.

Statement on Suez

Mr. Eisenhower also told his news conference:

1. He hopes the critical Suez situation will be settled without resort to military force. But he carefully avoided any statement that the United States would be opposed to force under any circumstances and refused to say whether he feels Britain and France are justified in sending military reinforcements to the Suez area.

2. He feels he has made his position perfectly clear on the "dump Nixon" campaign of Harold E. Stassen and he does not intend to discuss it again.

3. He also again counseled patience in solving the school integration problem in the South. He said certain reforms have to be achieved by education no matter how much law we have. But he said that under terms of the Supreme Court order local federal district courts probably will have to take some cognizance if school districts begin a new term this fall without taking any action at all toward eventual integration.

Denies Abandoning Farm Policies

4. Denied he had abandoned his flexible farm price support policies and scoffed at a Democrat's charge that the soil bank was a "brazen" attempt to buy votes.

5. Commented indirectly on a report in Robert Donovan's book on the administration that he once wished to start a third party.

Mr. Eisenhower laughed heartily when a woman reported asked him if his choice of the Republican Party was a case comparable to a woman "marrying a man to reform him." The question was in reference to Mr. Eisenhower's past statements that he wants to rebuild and in some ways reorient the GOP.

He said one reason he became the Republican candidate for president in 1952 was his conviction that after one party had been in power for 20 years abuses invariably occur which that party is incapable of straightening out. He said a change was needed to get an effective house-cleaning.

Kefauver's Gambit

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

In the final phases of the presidential nominating process, there are often big moves which give a psychological life to one candidate or another.

The withdrawal of Sen. Estes Kefauver is the first such development in the 1956 Democratic sweepstakes. The likely beneficiary is, of course, Adlai Stevenson, the front runner. But not Kefauver urged his supporters to switch to Stevenson.

Analysis of convention delegates' leanings makes this evident. The fact that Kefauver did call on his people to back Adlai may be of further help to the Illinoisan. But that is not an automatic result when a withdrawing candidate seeks to throw his strength elsewhere.

At such moments the delegates may be governed by one or more of three considerations: Loyalty to their original favorite, their second-choice sentiments, and their desire to ride with the winner. Of these, the weakest is usually original loyalty and the strongest is the urge to find the winner.

Released delegates are free agents, and cannot be commanded. In Kefauver's case, however, the evidence indicates that Stevenson is the second choice of a good many of the senator's delegate supporters. Thus they will be quite happy to take his suggestion to switch.

There is heavy Stevenson sentiment, for instance, in the 26-vote Indiana delegation gained by Kefauver in the state primary. Tennessee's 32-vote group, under Stevenson Gov. Frank Clement, is now freed of the necessity of giving its home state senator a courtesy vote on the first ballot. The Democratic organization in Minnesota has formally instructed its delegates to back Stevenson once Kefauver is out of it. Probably most of Kefauver's 26 will obey.

Undoubtedly Stevenson's secondary strength in the Kefauver list runs through several other delegations. But that is not the whole story.

Of even greater influence is his growing lead for the nomination at Chicago. By the most conservative impartial polls of delegates, Stevenson now has from 400 to 425 of the 686 1-2 votes he needs to win. But this leaves out of account other layers of strength Stevenson can tap.

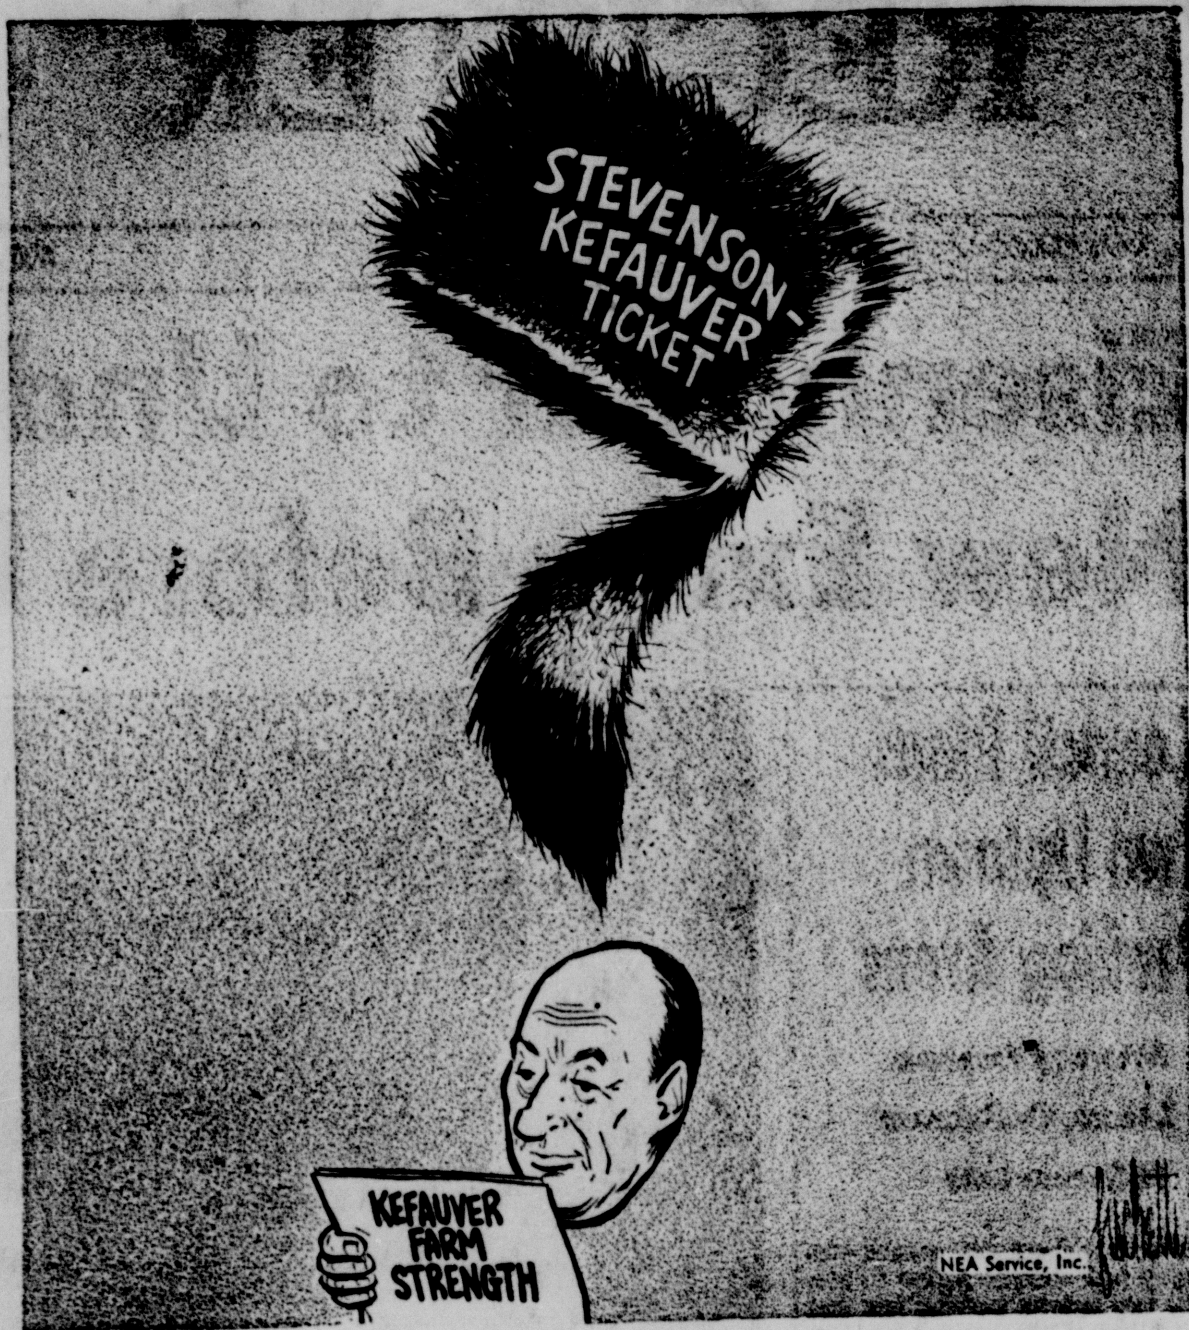

One lies under the thin cover of the "favorite son" candidates. In this list are Washington (26 votes), Massachusetts (40), Ohio (58), and possibly New Jersey (36). All indications are that Stevenson will pull heavily here once the home state men have had their publicity ride.

A second layer lies in the South, where Stevenson is rated top choice in such states as Virginia, Louisiana and New Mexico. If Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas (56) should quickly yield his favorite-son status and announce his well-understood willingness to accept Stevenson, a large block of southern votes would fall to him—no later than the second ballot.

These are the factors which enhance Stevenson's position as leader and give released Kefauver delegates food for thought. Gov. Averell Harriman of New York is not giving up. Technically he is now in second place. But it is a weak second, and most observers would say it has not been made materially stronger by Kefauver's withdrawal.

More than 94 per cent of all bituminous coal produced at the present time in the United States is mined east of the Mississippi, an area in which the chemical industry is spending $2 billion for plant expansion. As one of chemistry's valuable raw materials, coal is the basic ingredient for many chemical products, from aspirin to plastic "squeeze bottles" to lotions.

Big Question

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Prime Minister Eden Bawled Out Dulles For Precipitating Egyptian Crisis; French Are Even More Determined Than British To Fight; Suez Crisis Could Upset Ike's "Peace And Prosperity."

WASHINGTON. — The truth about John Foster Dulles' quick trip to London was that he did not have a happy time. He got one of the worst bawling-outs in his long years as a public figure.

Here is what happened: Secretary Dulles arrived in London to find Prime Minister Eden literally seething over the Suez Canal seizure. He was almost as irate against the United States as against President Nasser of Egypt—though not quite.

The French were equally aroused, possibly more so, and both were resolved to use force to take the canal back from Egypt. Their position can best be understood by imagining how the American government and public would act if the Panamanian government, without notice, took over the Panama Canal Zone. Any U. S. administration which did not mobilize the fleet off Panama would lose the next election.

By the time Dulles arrived, Prime Minister Eden had already notified three British divisions to be ready to move, together with parts of the British fleet. The French had also promised 100,000 troops to support the British.

NO U. S. TROOPS

It was at this point that Dulles raised the red flag. He warned that Eden's plan would precipitate full scale war between the Arab states and the west, with only the Russians benefiting.

Dulles also warned that not a single American soldier would be sent to bolster the allies.

Eden, however, was not convinced. And during a four-hour session, the British prime minister considered going ahead with an occupation of the Suez Canal area by force.

During this top-level argument between the leaders of the western world, Eden gave Dulles about the bluntest bawling out that the head of one nation can give the foreign minister of another. He blame-d Dulles for pressuring Britain to get British troops out of the Suez Canal in 1953 and then building up Nasser's power in a race to see which could do most for Egypt—the United States or Russia.

Then, said Eden, Dulles precipitated the current crisis by suddenly withdrawing support for the Aswan dam which hitherto he had almost urged Nasser to accept. Placed on that kind of a spot, a dictator like Nasser, who depends on public acclaim, had to do something drastic.

Eden also pointed out that Britain and France had supported the United States when we got into trouble over Korea, even though the Korean war was extremely unpopular in Europe. In contrast, he said, the United States was now dragging its feet, expecting the British and French to take responsibility for a problem which the United States had precipitated.

John Foster Dulles listened silently.

In the end, Prime Minister Eden and French Foreign Minister Pinet-au-Louis agreed to hold off military action for the time being—but only for the time being—in order to propose international control and give Nasser time to retreat.

REPUBLICAN WORRIES

What worries Foster Dulles and high Republican strategists is the timing of the international meeting on Suez and its aftermath.

The meeting is to be held on August 16, just as Republican delegates head for San Francisco to renominate Ike and/or Nixon-Herter. Assuming the Suez meeting takes about a week, and that another two weeks is given Egypt to act on an ultimatum, this would put any Suez showdown just at the beginning of the election campaign—a campaign built on the Eisenhower political theme song—"peace and prosperity."

Judging by the temper of the French and British, they are not going to take any more fooling from Nasser. He can take or leave the international control idea.

If he leaves it, the chances are about 100 to 1 that the British and French will move in. They have enough troops and battle wagons so that Egyptian opposition would be like a desert fleabite—unless Russia intervenes.

This is another possibility that has Republican strategists worried. Present advices from Moscow are that Russia doesn't want to get mixed up in the Suez mess, but this could change.

Another thing that worries Dulles and GOP strategists is the attitude of the French. They are even more determined to act than the British. They believe Nasser must be crushed, that as long as he leads a militant Egypt, the rest of the Arab world will be crusading behind him.

The French attribute their troubles in Algeria partly to Nasser. Not only do Algerian rebel supplies come from Egypt, but Algerian rebel inspiration comes from Nasser.

That's why the French are ready to contribute 100,000 men out of their 400,000-man force in Algeria to fight against Egypt over Suez.

In brief, the French and British are not bluffing. Meanwhile, Nasser is drunk with power and the cheers of Egyptian mobs.

PTA MEMBERSHIP DRIVE A SUCCESS

The Gaaltia PTA ice cream social and membership drive held Saturday, Aug. 4 was a success in every way it is reported.

Seventy PTA memberships for the 1956-57 school year were secured and the ice cream social netted $123.00. "We wish to express our thanks to everyone who helped to make the evening such a grand success," a PTA officer said.

Sentence Colonel To Dismissal For Misconduct

FT. DEVENS, Mass., Aug. 7 — Col. Walter C. Heinel was sentenced to dismissal from the service Tuesday on eight charges of misconduct while commander of the Boston Army base.

Heinel also was sentenced to forfeiture of all future pay and allowances.

The decision of the general court-martial board was announced after 32 minutes' deliberation.

The colonel, 54, who had been only six months from retirement, wept when he heard the sentence. Three misconduct charges involving "free-loading" were reduced from a total of $875 in alleged unpaid bills for meals, laundry and hair cuts to a total of $426.

The court also reduced a charge that the colonel induced a pretty blonde mother of two children, Mrs. Alice M. Wilson of Westwood, Mass., to leave her husband. The court changed it to "attempted to induce."

Heinel was found guilty as charged of two counts of fraternization, garaging his car without authority at the base motor pool and having his car repaired free at the motor pool.

U. S. Reaffirms Ban on Newsmen Visiting China

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The State Department has reaffirmed its blanket ban on permitting American newsmen or other citizens to visit Red China.

The department said the ban will be continued as long as Red China holds Americans "as political hostages."

The department issued a formal policy statement on travel in Red China Tuesday after the Peiping regime invited 15 American newsmen to visit the Chinese mainland.

The department said the United States welcomes free exchange of information between countries. But it said the Chinese Communist regime by "taking American citizens into captivity and holding them in effect as political hostages... has created a special impediment."

The department said Red China still is holding 11 American citizens despite an agreement last Sept. 10 to free all Americans "expeditiously." It said 10 of the Americans are in Red Chinese prisons.

"So long as these conditions continue it is not considered to be in the best interest of the United States that Americans should accept the Chinese Communist invitation to travel in Communist China," the department said.

OPELOUSAS, La. (U.P.)—The St. Landry Catholic Church sold a 250 by 257 foot piece of land today for $45,000. The land was valued at $400 when it was donated to the church in 1855.

Four Youths in Souped-Up Auto Die When Car Hits Tree in High-Speed Chase

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Four beer-drinking youths in a souped-up Buick were killed early today when they smashed into a tree to end a police chase at speeds up to 120 miles per hour.

State police, sheriff's highway police and squad cars from half a dozen suburbs took part in the pursuit at one time or another.

The hot-rod was demolished when it failed to make a curve and smashed into a tree on the west edge of suburban Elmhurst.

The dead were Ellory Smola, 20, and Larry Junius, 20, both of suburban Mount Prospect, and Roger Laubaugh, 21, and Harold Slughaupt, 23, both of Arlington Heights.

Two other youths, Bob Wissler, Mount Prospect, and Jeff Trimble, Arlington Heights, got out of the car at Mount Prospect before the crash, along with three girls, aged 15, 14 and 13.

The girls told suburban Des Plaines police that the youths had four six-pack cartons of beer when they started out on the joyride at 10:15 p. m. last night, and bought three more six-packs.

They said the youths "hot-rodged" around Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and Des Plaines for two hours at speeds up to 120 miles per hour.

Sgt. John Irre of the Du Page County sheriff's office estimated their speed at the time of the crash at 90 miles per hour.

Police from Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Des Plaines, Bensenville and Elmhurst gave chase but were outdistanced by the hot-rod.

Too Green With Money

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (U.P.)—Mrs. Margarette Wright hastily called police Tuesday when she learned her son Tommy, 7, had "sold" $100 in $10 bills to a 13-year old playmate for a quarter. Officers recovered six of the bills from the 13-year old boy but he said he had given $40 as presents to friends.

As the bride came down the aisle on the arm of her father to the altar, banked in white gladiolus, greenery and candelabra, Miss Ruth Hamilton played the wedding march.

Preceding the ceremony, William Carter, brother of the bride, lighted the candles and rolled the white liner down the aisle.

The bride was lovely in a gown of gossamer beauty, made entirely of point d'esprit hand embroidered nylon tulle designed with short sleeves and a square neckline. The billowing skirt was cascaded at the back into a chapel train. The fingertip veil was attached to a lace and pearl Juliet hat. Her bridal bouquet was made of Fuji mums and ivy and she wore lace mits which matched her dress.

Miss Martha Lou Carter, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and her other attendant was Mrs. Barbara Barnes Lippencott.

Both attendants wore gowns of ice blue antique taffeta, styled with a scooped neckline and a long torso. The full skirts were ballerina length. They carried colonial bouquets of white daisies tied with blue ribbon and their large garden hats were made of white embroidered eyelet with blue streamers.

The bridegroom chose Dycus Tison as best man and ushers were Richard Wilson of Carbondale and Victor Aydt of Ridgeway.

Mrs. Carter chose for her daughter's wedding, a wedge-wood blue silk shantung dress and black and white accessories. She wore a white glabella corsage.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Johnson, wore a pink dress and pink and white accessories. She also wore a corsage of white gladiolus.

Previous to the ceremony, John Schork of Harrisburg sang "If Thou Be Near" by Bach and "Thou My Queen" by Brahms.

Immediately following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlor.

The bride's table was covered with a white cloth and decorated with white ribbons and lilies-of-the-valley.

Mrs. Harry Woolcott Sr. was also a guest. The Kapples Klass welcomes all newcomers who have no church home.

THE STORY: A disappearing body at the Hibiscus Hotel, a frightened woman who says her brother was murdered, and a man who claims he is the brother has started Michael Shayne on another adventure. When Mike attempts to bring the scar-faced "brother" face-to-face with the girl, the girl is found to have escaped by Shayne's fire escape. The brother draws a gun and retreats when Mike suggests police.

XIII

She slowed to a fast walk on the avenue. There was a single loitering female figure on the sidewalk ahead of her. She had a large red handbag swinging carelessly from her shoulder and was strolling along as though she hadn't a care in the world.

And she probably hadn't, thought the distraught girl to herself. Miami must be full of people who hadn't a care in the world.

She was abreast of the other girl who turned curiously to see who was passing in such desperate haste. She caught only a brief glimpse of her face as she was going by without slackening her pace, and had a brief feeling of recognition.

She heard a surprised exclamation, and then the footsteps slightly behind her quickened and a moment later a hand seized her arm firmly.

She turned to shake it off, and then she recognized the features of the girl who had been so nice to her in the taxicab about letting the driver pick her up and take her to Shayne's hotel.

"Goodness!" the girl exclaimed. "It is you, isn't it? I was so utterly surprised to see you." She went on anxiously. "Did you find your detective all right? My, that was so exciting in the cab. Nothing ever happens to me," she added resentfully.

Her first impulse was to rudely snatch her arm away from the other's grasp and run. But she glanced swiftly over her shoulder at the empty street behind them, and forced herself to slow down instead.

After all, wasn't this better? Two girls walking along separately together. Practically running and alone as she had been, and she was much more conspicuous. And the girl had been nice to her, in the cab. She did owe her some explanation.

She caught her breath as best she could, and said, "I never expected to see you again, either. How on earth do you happen to be here?"

"I stopped to see a friend and when I started back there weren't any taxis. So I thought I might as well walk the few blocks." She linked their arms together tightly as they neared the intersection, and steered the other girl across the street, saying happily, "Let's sit on a park bench for a minute and you've got to tell me all about it."

"I—I—oh, it's all so mixed up. That man followed me there somehow, you see. And I was out in the kitchen while they talked. And I got frightened and—ran away." They sat on a bench.

"You poor thing. You mean the same man who was chasing you when you jumped in the cab with me?"

"Yes. With the scarred face. Oh, it's all so impossible. I just can't make anybody understand. Even Mr. Shayne."

"That's a shame. What are you going to do now?"

"He gave me an address. I've got it here in my bag. A note to his secretary where I can stay and be perfectly safe." She started up, fright seizing her anew.

The other's hand was tight on her arm, pulling her down to the bench. "No one can see us on this bench."

"Well, I—I guess maybe you're right." She allowed herself to be persuaded and sank back onto the bench, thinking it would be good to talk to someone else and see how her story sounded.

"I'm Mary Barnes," she began. "I'm staying at the Roney Plaza, and—"

It was dark on the palm-shrouded bench in the park with only a slim sliver of a moon overhead. Silent except for the low murmur of the girls' voices as they sat close together.

And after a time that murmur ceased and there was complete silence for a moment, then the sound of a brief struggle and a low, gasping, "A-h-h-h."

And then more silence.

And then a single set of footsteps, coming out of the darkness and the silence to the streetlights, to wave down a cruising taxi.

And a girl getting in the rear seat and settling herself composedly in the corner and opening a black suede purse to take out a sheet of paper and read the address in Michael Shayne's handwriting aloud to the driver.

Witnesses Take Slap at Soviet Premier

Jehovah's Witnesses flipped a glove across the cheek of Premier Nikolai Bulganin of Russia in a resolution adopted Aug. 4 at their district assembly at Parkway Field, Louisville, Ky.

In the resolution, they asked Bulganin:

1. To free approximately 9,000 Jehovah's Witnesses imprisoned behind the Iron Curtain.

2. To see that Jehovah's Witnesses are authorized to organize in Russia in the same pattern that is followed in other countries.

The resolution explained that Jehovah's Witnesses "render first to God the things that belong to God and then to the political ruler on earth the things that belong to him."

"We can do nothing else but inform the world about Jehovah's Witnesses in Russian prisons, penal camps, and deportation centers."

However, "We would prefer to be able to tell the world that you, the Government of Russia, have ordered Jehovah's Witnesses to be freed from all such places (prisons) in order to work as free citizens of your country and live a calm and quiet life which they believe to be in harmony with the example given by Jesus Christ."

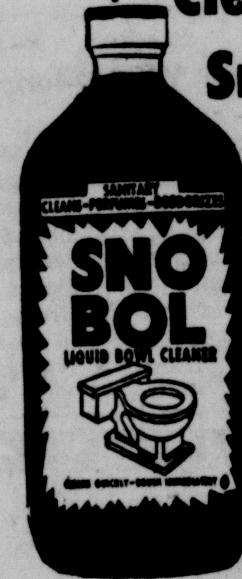

O. E. Partain, presiding minister of the local congregation, who led a delegation of 11 to the convention, said the petition would be sent immediately to Bulganin and request that a delegation be permitted to visit Russia to see for themselves what might be done to aid the prisoners.

Ten thousand, one hundred and fifty seven were in attendance at the final session of the assembly Sunday to hear the lecture "Why Permanent Peace Will Come in Our Day!" In the baptismal ceremony Aug. 4, 261 symbolized the dedication of their lives to the service of Almighty God.

The Venetians of the 1400s usually are credited with having invented the double-entry system of bookkeeping.

Attorney to Address Tri-State Oil Accountants

"Howdy, Partner," subtitled "When and How To Elect Under Sub-Chapter K," will be the subject to an address by Louis W. Ritz, Evansville oil attorney, at the meeting of the Tri-State Petroleum Accountants' Society to be held Wednesday, Sept. 21, at the Spot Cafe at Mt. Carmel, at 7 p. m.

Mr. Ritz has recently opened an office specializing in the practice of petroleum law at 612 S. E. Second street, Evansville. He had previously served for ten years as pipe line attorney for the Farm Bureau refinery at Mt. Vernon, operating its Evansville offices. He is a graduate of Evansville college and of the University of Michigan law school, and has practiced in Evansville since 1939, except for five years spent in the Army, during which time he served in India and Burma.

In his address, Mr. Ritz will deal with the recently issued regulations under Sub-Chapter K of the 1954 Internal Revenue Code, by virtue of which persons owning interests in an oil well are treated as partners, subject to their right to elect not to be so treated. Such an election, according to Mr. Ritz, must be made before August 21 of this year (unless the period is extended by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue), and, once made, cannot be changed. Whether to make such an election, and how to accomplish it, are therefore, Mr. Ritz points out, questions to which everyone owning any interest in oil properties must find an immediate answer.

The meeting will be open to all members and other persons interested in petroleum accounting.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dietzenbacher, D. D.
Written for NEA Service

The weather has been changeable this summer. There has been hot weather, dry weather, stormy weather and some cool days. In the skies these variable situations have reflected themselves in flying conditions which have made navigation uncertain.

Recently, a plane of passengers was flying in dense clouds with no visibility. Lightning was flashing from one cloud to another. The pilot obtained permission from the control tower of a nearby field to fly above the clouds. Although the sun was shining at the new height the thunderheads rising above the turbulent clouds were forbidding.

As we flew through the valleys of clear sky there was a clear memory of 128 people who lost their lives in a similar situation over the Grand Canyon.

What did those people think about when they knew they were falling to probable death? Were they frightened? Were they calm? Did a million regrets flash before their eyes? Were they frightened?

Or were they unaware that the end was at hand?

Are we ready to meet our Maker now? Most of us would not want to die without finishing some things which we could have finished yesterday.

We should wish that we had prayed more fervently.

We should have followed God's way more meticulously.

Gov't Economists See No Inflation In Steel Increase

WASHINGTON (UP) — The administration does not expect the latest hike in steel prices to set off a major trend toward inflation, informed sources said today.

Government economists and high administration officials conceded that the prices of thousands of items, such as automobiles and appliances, may go up as a result of the steel price hike. But they believe these increases will be scattered and not uniformly heavy.

Steel prices were increased $8.50 a ton after steel companies granted wage increases to striking employees.

One government economist considered the coming fall buying season to hold more dangers of inflation than the steel increase. Should customers, with their steadily rising incomes, go on a buying spree, heavily supported by credit, he feared prices could quickly go up.

Find Body of Girl Feared Kidnaped

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (UP) — The body of a five-year-old Waterloo, Iowa, girl, who had been feared kidnaped, was found Tuesday in Newport Harbor where she apparently fell off a pier and drowned two days ago.

Three 14-year-old boys fishing in a rowboat discovered the body of Barbara L. Blasler floating near the boat pier where the child disappeared Sunday.

Harrisburg is Better Than You Think, Webb Says

The two banks — Harrisburg National and First National—have total deposits of $12,000,000 and together employ 35 persons;

Godards Farm Market ranked 12th in Purina sales in the state of Illinois in 1955 and Sugar Creek Produce did a half million dollar business last year;

Dr. Webb also pointed out the economic benefits to Harrisburg from the oil industry, not only from monies received from the sale of oil but that two companies in the oil business were locating offices in Harrisburg and would release payrolls here. There are nine families with the Schlumberger Co., and 12 families with the Halliburton company are living in Harrisburg;

Other Businesses

The joint meeting of the clubs was to observe the recent baseball game played by the two, with the Rotary defeating the Kiwanis 17-16. It was agreed prior to the game that the winners would be guests of the losers, with the winning club eating steak and the losers beans. The meal started with Rotary President Lowden Pankey filling his plate with steak as Kiwanis President Ronnie Doerge dipped heavily into the bean bowl.

Illinois Soil District Ass'n Elects Officers

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Willard Cook, DeKalb, was re-elected president of the Association of Illinois Soil Conservation Districts during the organization's eighth annual meeting which closed a three-day session at Southern Illinois University here today.

Other newly elected officers are Paul Trevillion, Brownfield, vice-president; C. H. Kersten, Ashton, secretary-treasurer; and Lyle Eversole, Hindsboro, and Doreen Bricker, Media, members of the executive committee. Kersten succeeds E. T. Franklin, San Jose, who completed six years as secretary-treasurer.

Nearly 300 Illinois soil conservation district directors, representing more than 70 counties, attended the conference to hear discussions on soil conservation practices and watershed development programs.

Stillman J. Stanard, Illinois Director of Agriculture, reported that farm soil conservation practices have grown by one-third or more in the past three years, the most rapid period of development in the 19 years of organized soil conservation work in the state. Stanard was speaker at the annual dinner meeting Monday. He lauded the work of the Illinois association.

State Senator Glenn O. Jones, Harrisburg, chairman of the Illinois Commission to study water uses and water rights, discussed water conservation needs and problems revealed by the study of the commission. Jones addressed a Tuesday conference session.

Problems and progress in watershed development programs were discussed in panel discussions. Reports on work in the Robinson Creek watershed in Shelby county and the Crawford watershed in Washington county were given.

The Mason County Soil Conservation District was cited in a "modern pioneers" program. Counties receiving ten-year awards were Brown, Effingham, Franklin, Kanakake, Madison, Mercer, Pike, Saline, Will and Williamson.

Attending the conference from Saline county were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Halbersleben and Cecil Nelson, Harrisburg; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Vance, Carrier Mills; Mr. and Mrs. Alva Gholson, Eldorado; and Ewell Harris, Galatia.

Union Rejects Contract Offer By Du Quoin Plant

DU QUOIN, Ill. (U.P.)—A three-year contract offer by the strike-bound Du Quoin Packing Co. has been rejected by the union.

The company said another negotiations session is planned Saturday in the 17-week-old strike. The union has indicated it may have a counter-proposal then.

The company offer Tuesday called for an immediate pay hike of from 15-to-20 cents an hour, another 5-to-10 cents next April 1 and an additional 5-to-10 cents in April of 1958.

A company spokesman says this schedule would have provided for an overall increase of from 25-to-30 cents. He said the increases would cost the company more than $81,000 for the remainder of this year and $265,000 more for the remainder of the contract.

The striking workers are members of Local Union 156, United Packinghouse Workers.

269 Belgian Coal Miners Trapped

MARCINELLE, Belgium (U.P.)—Fire touched off by a high-tension short circuit trapped an estimated 269 men 3,000 feet below ground in a coal mine today. A major disaster was feared.

Eight hours after the alarm, rescue workers broke into the blazing shaft and found four of the trapped men. Three at the shaft's entrance were dead. A fourth was brought out alive.

Rescuers reported from 500 feet down that heat from the fire was unbearable.

Ex-GOP Governor Says He Will Not Vote for Eisenhower

DES MOINES (U.P.)—Former Republican Gov. Dan Turner of Iowa says he won't vote for President Eisenhower this year because of the agricultural situation.

Turner, vice chairman of the Iowa Citizens for Eisenhower committee in 1952, told a National Farmers Organization convention here Tuesday that the President appears "isolated from a real understanding of farm problems."

President Eisenhower "must bear the responsibility," Turner said, for farm policies which "have contributed much to the unhappy state of American agriculture."

Run by Fire Department

The fire department made a run this morning to the Harry Wilkins home at 708 East Walnut street, called there by an oil stove fire. Damage was slight. This was the first run to a fire since July 18.

Kansas' GOP Governor Loses Renomination Bid

By United Press

The political spotlight focused today on Kansas where Republican Gov. Fred Hall lost his bid for renomination, the first Kansas GOP chief executive to fail to win a chance for a second term in 26 years.

Primary elections were held in Kansas, Missouri and Michigan Tuesday.

Hall conceded the election to State Rep. Warren W. Shaw, with whom he waged one of the bitterest campaigns in many years. Shaw, who claimed victory earlier, said he hoped to unite the Republican party for the November balloting.

House Group Urges Aid for Family Farmer

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—A House agriculture subcommittee today urged that the federal government take action to protect the family farmer.

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. Clark W. Thompson (D-Tex.), said 600,000 family farms have disappeared in the last four years.

It warned that elimination of the family farmer in favor of industrial farming would be "a serious blow to America's free enterprise system."

"Free enterprise is the spirit of the frontier," the subcommittee said in a report. "The frontier must be kept open for men to venture in, and to achieve independence in, individual and family enterprises."

The subcommittee said that in a 3,000-mile "grassroots" study it made it discovered a "deterioration" of the economic position of the family farm because of high costs of new equipment and a "general weakening" of the farm economy.

The subcommittee recommended: Legislation "to assure each family-size farm its share in the nation's agricultural production and in the prosperity which the American system has provided for the nation's general economy."

"Intensified operations" under the Farmer's Home Administration to provide small farmers with credit to buy adequate farms and equipment.

Federal help in finding better markets for the family farmer.

Federal help in providing vocational training in formal schooling and on the farm.

Establishment of a national policy of the widest possible dispersal of industry, not only as a defense measure but to place industries in areas with "a wealth of sturdy manpower."

Illinois to Draft 1,020 in October

CHICAGO (U.P.)—About 1,020 men will be drafted for the Army from Illinois in October.

Selective Service headquarters here said the draftees would be the state's share of the Defense Department call for 17,000 men in October.

Democrats also had a dogfight in the Kansas gubernatorial race. Early today banker George Docking, who lost to Hall in 1954, held an edge over Harry Woodring, one-time governor and former secretary of war.

U. S. Sen. Frank Carlson, a friend of President Eisenhower, had no difficulty getting backing for renomination from the president's home state. Carlson had little opposition from Leavenworth City Judge Walter I. Biddle. Four candidates tangled for the Democratic U. S. senatorial nomination.

In Michigan, Detroit Mayor Albert E. Cobo clinched the GOP gubernatorial nomination, holding a lead of more than 2-to-1 over former State Police Commissioner Donald Leonard. However, Leonard, who once served under Cobo as Detroit police commissioner, refused to concede and hoped to gain votes in the out-state area.

Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams was unopposed for renomination on his party's ballot.

The most bitter battle in the Michigan primary pitted Congresswoman Ruth Thompson against Traverse City attorney Robert P. Griffin. Miss Thompson trailed Griffin by almost 3,600 votes. She was severely criticized for her part in the controversy over the Air Force's selection of a site in the northern tip of her district because of what she considered a $1,000 bribe offer.

Lt. Gov. James T. Blair Jr. swept to a commanding lead in the Democratic race for Missouri governor. Meanwhile, Lon Hocker, a St. Louis attorney, also picked up a huge lead over his opponents for the GOP gubernatorial nomination.

A tight race developed in the Republican nomination for U. S. senator between Herbert Douglas and Albert Schoenbeck, with Schoenbeck holding a slight lead.

Democratic incumbent U. S. Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr. was unopposed.

Blonde, 'Mad' at Husband, Goes on Shooting Rampage

VAN NUYS, Calif. (U.P.)—A shapely blonde bride faced charges today of "shooting up" a San Fernando Valley residential area because she was mad at her husband for giving her a "butch haircut."

It took more than 20 officers more than a half hour Tuesday to subdue Mrs. Barbara Michich, 24, where she barricaded herself in her home and began blasting away at houses in the area.

Police finally routed her with tear gas. They found five guns in the home.

Bullets shattered the windshield of a police car and hit surrounding homes. Officers estimated she fired 50 rounds from two shotguns, a .22 rifle, an automatic pistol and an 8-millimeter Hauser automatic.

"Actually, I couldn't hit the broadside of a barn," Mrs. Michich told officers when she was booked on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon. "I was sore at my husband because he gave me a short haircut."

Her husband, William, said:

"She wasn't shooting at me, she was just shooting away her temper."

Illinois Cancer Society Tops Record Goal

CHICAGO (U.P.)—The American Cancer Society, Illinois division, topped the highest goal in its history today when the 1956 Cancer Crusade reached the $1,451,376 mark.

Target of the campaign had been $1,450,000.

Drummond C. Bell, state campaign chairman who announced the contribution figure, also reported that 97 downstate counties raised $763,105 of the total.

Egyptian Health Dep't Crippled Children's Clinic Held at Carmi

The Carmi Township hospital was host Tuesday for the fifth time to the Egyptian Health Department and the Division of Services for Crippled Children.

The first Crippled Children's clinic was held in the new hospital on November 13, 1954. Two clinics were held there on April 21, 1955, and November 15, 1955. In 1956 there will be three clinics. The first one this year was on April 3, the second one Tuesday and the third one will be due on December 4.

It is hoped that during the year 1957 four clinics can be held—approximately one every three months. Mrs. Mable Grumley Burton, nursing supervisor for the health department, states that the case load of crippled children has grown so much, due to case finding of the public health nurses and other agencies, in the three counties, that the area needs four clinics — instead of only one that they started with in 1952 when the Egyptian Health Department opened.

Eighty-one children were invited to the clinic Tuesday—20 from White county, 34 from Saline county, and 14 from Gallatin county. The remaining 13 came from Johnson, Edwards, and Massac counties.

Over 250 of these clinics are conducted over the state of Illinois every year. They are held in about 40 different communities scattered throughout the state. Information concerning the clinics held in Gallatin, Saline, or White counties can be secured from anyone of the Egyptian Public Health offices located in the county seat of each county. Before any child is seen in any one of the Crippled Children's clinics the parents must be visited in the home, a full history on the child compiled, the family doctor contacted and any previous medical history secured from the child's family physician.

The first active service made available to a child in these clinics is the diagnostic clinic examination. The children are examined by skilled orthopedists, pediatricians, and speech and hearing clinicians. The orthopedist who serviced the clinic Tuesday was Dr. Robert Thompson from Chicago Wesley hospital. The pediatrician was Dr. Remsen Behrer, St. Louis Children's hospital. Robert Simpson, speech and hearing consultant from Springfield, University of Illinois, Division of Services for Crippled Children, interviewed and tested all children with speech and hearing defects that attended the clinic.

Mrs. Gladys Caley Gibbons, nursing consultant with the Division of Services for Crippled Children, Mrs. Mable Grumley Burton, nursing supervisor for the Egyptian Health Department, Miss Marion Matthews, staff nurse from the Gallatin county Egyptian Health Department office, Mrs. Vivian Barton Kötner from the Saline county Egyptian Health Department office, and Mrs. Marjorie Beck Whitson from the Carmi Egyptian Health Department office, all assisted in the clinic. Mrs. Guy Hunter, Carrier Mills, who teaches in the Harrisburg Township high school, and Mrs. Monroe L. Rhodes, Harrisburg, were the volunteers who helped with registration.

Kimmel is Appointed Chairman of County ASC Election Board

E. C. Secor, chairman of the Illinois State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, announced today the appointment of L. B. Kimmel as chairman of the Saline county ASC county election board. Mr. Kimmel will be assisted in carrying out the duties of this office by Thomas W. Morgan of the SCS agency, C. Errol Vineyard, Farm Bureau representative, and E. Ronald Coon, FFA representative.

"The selection of these men to serve on the county election board has been made to provide a group of men who are representative of all phases of agricultural operations in this county in order that they may in turn be able to select representative community election boards," Mr. Secor stated. "The selection of these community election boards is to be completed by August 14."

Newcombe Blanks Pirates For 3rd Straight Shutout; Cardinals Beat Reds, 8-4

By United Press

Don Newcombe moved within range of two National League records today in his brilliant bid to pitch the Brooklyn Dodgers to another pennant.

Big Newk notched his third straight shutout, his eighth consecutive victory and his 17th win of the year Tuesday night in overpowering the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-0. The win enabled the Dodgers to stay within 1 1/2 games of the first-place Milwaukee Braves, who beat the Chicago Cubs, 6-1, in an afternoon game.

Newcombe needs one more shutout to tie the league mark of four in a row shared by Mordecai Brown, Grover Cleveland Alexander, Ed Reulbach, Bill Lee and Sal Maglie, and his string of 33 consecutive scoreless innings gives him a shot at the league mark of 46 1/3 set by Carl Hubbell in 1933.

Snider Hits 31st

Newcombe struck out six and walked two as the Dodgers scored their sixth victory without a defeat at their "home away from home" in Jersey City. Duke Snider provided the big right-hander with the only scoring he needed when he walloped his 31st homer with a mate aboard in the third inning.

Warren Spahn contributed a homer to the Braves' 12-hit attack and Hank Aaron hit two singles to stretch his batting streak to 24 consecutive games. Spahn, scoring his 11th win, limited the Cubs to eight hits.

The St. Louis Cardinals, meanwhile, knocked the Cincinnati Reds three games off the Braves' pace when they rallied in the late innings for an 8-4 triumph. Bobby Morgan's pinch single with the bases filled and two out in the eighth put the Cardinals ahead, 6-4, and they added two more runs in the ninth. Wally Moon paced the Redbirds' attack with five hits.

Southpaw Harvey Haddix and Curt Simmons each scored his sixth straight triumph as the Philadelphia Phillies beat the New York Giants, 4-3 and 3-1. Stan Lopata singled home the winning run in the ninth inning of the opener, which the Giants protested because of a reversed umpire's decision in the ninth, while Simmons fired a four-hitter. The sweep stretched the Phillies' winning streak to five games—a club high for the year.

Boxer Edge Yanks

Ted Williams walked with the bases filled to break up a brilliant pitching duel and give the Boston Red Sox a 1-0 decision over the New York Yankees in an 11-inning thriller. Relief pitcher Tommy Byrne walked Williams after two Yankee errors and a walk by Don Larsen filled the bases. Willard Nixon limited the Yankees to four hits to win his sixth decision.

The Cleveland Indians reduced the Yankees' first-place lead to seven games when they snapped a four-game losing streak with a 5-2 triumph over the Detroit Tigers. Hal Naragon went four-for-four and Preston Ward three-for-four, including a homer for each, to help Mike Garcia win his eighth game. Garcia lost his shutout in the ninth when Ray Boone hit a two-run homer. Frank Lary was the loser.

The Chicago White Sox scored a pair of 10-inning victories over the Kansas City Athletics, winning the opener, 5-4, when Jim Rivera tripled home Walt Dropo and taking the nightcap, 4-3, when Dropo singled home Nelson Fox. Ellis Kinder and Paul LaPalme were the winning pitchers.

$80,000 WORTH—Stan Hack schools Moe Drabowsky in screening the ball from the batter. The Chicago Cubs gave the 21-year old Trinity College of Hartford right-hander $80,000 for his signa-ture. He pitched in a Nova Scotia league.

Sprehe to Coach at Karnak Grade School

KARNAK, Ill.—Vernon Sprehe, one of Southern Illinois University's standouts in track this past season, will coach at the Karnak grade school this coming year. He also will assist the high school coach, Jim Fisher. Sprehe was graduated from the Nashville, Ill., high school.

DAHNCHE TRANSFERS

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Julian Dahncche, captain-elect of Southern Illinois University's 1957 track team, will transfer to another school to study engineering. A native of Effingham, Dahncche also played basketball at SIU. Track Coach Leland P. (Doc) Lingle said that a new captain would be chosen this fall.

OVERHAUL SIU TRACK

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Southern Illinois University's quarter-mile track is being completely overhauled in a $5,000 improvement project.

All broken curbs are being repaired; broken tiles are being replaced; and the complete track, including a 220-yard straightaway, is being resurfaced with a clay and cinders combination. The work is expected to provide SIU with one of the state's finest tracks.

Williams, Angry Over $5,000 Fine, Threatens to Repeat Spitting at Fans

BOSTON — Ted Williams, so angry over a record-equaling $5,000 fine for misconduct that he threatened to repeat his spitting gestures again, declared today "I'm not a damn bit sorry for what I did."

General Manager Joe Cronin of the Boston Red Sox fined him the $5,000 Tuesday for two spitting incidents in a tight 11-inning game with the New York Yankees in which Williams sent over the winning run by drawing a bases-loaded walk. Then to complete his defiance of the fans and the Boston sports writers with whom he has feuded persistently, he threw his bat 25 feet into the air before going down to first base.

"I'd spit again on the same people who booed me," he said in his hotel suite after figuring out Tuesday night that the $5,000 fine would cost him approximately one eighth of his take home pay on a $100,000 salary.

"I wouldn't be at the ball park tomorrow if I could afford $5,000 fines," he said.

The fine equalled the heaviest ever assessed against a ball player. Babe Ruth was fined $5,000 in 1925 by Yankee Manager Miller Huggins for "misconduct off the field."

Williams was quoted earlier by Cronin as saying "I was sorry the minute I did it—I can't explain the reason for it."

But he had changed his tune when he reached his hotel. His anger reached a peak in the game when a few of the fans in the record-breaking crowd of 36,304 booed him for dropping Mick ey Mantle's wind-tossed fly ball in the Yankee half of the 11th for a two-base error.

The majority of the fans were on their feet applauding him for his splendid catch against the left-field wall of Yogi Berra's towering clout minutes later.

But the temperamental veteran, who had got away without any official reprimand the previous occasions, apparently chose to hear only the boos and let go with a distinct spit at the stunned onlookers as he approached the Red Sox dugout.

Then, evidently to insure that his intentions were not to be mistaken, Williams spit once more and followed with a menacing gesture from the enclosure though only his hand and forearm were visible above the roof.

Report Blasts Ring Sports In California

SACRAMENTO — A governor's investigating committee said today boxing and wrestling in California is tinged with the "filthy shadow of the underworld" and recommended three of the state's top ring figures be barred from the fight game.

The committee, after 19 days of public hearings, recommended revocation of the licenses held by Babe McCoy and Cal Eaton of Los Angeles and Jimmy Murray of Oakland. It also singled out another central figure in Northern California ring circles, Sid Flaherty. The report said Flaherty should be forced to confine his operations to managing or match making, not both, and should be fined for his past activities.

In all, the 181-page report, studied with names of ring greats in almost every weight classification, recommended action against 27 managers, promoters, matchmakers, referees or hangers-on. And a committee spokesman indicated "many more" persons may be involved in subsequent investigations.

Among infractions cited were fixed fights, use of criminal means to influence the result of matches, licensing of ex-convicts, failure to take action against a boxing club operator who operated a large scale gambling and bookmaking establishment, hold-outs on fighters' purses and falsification of public records.

The committee recommended McCoy's license not only be revoked but that he be barred from attending boxing matches or visiting training camps.

In addition to McCoy and Eaton, the committee recommended revocations of the managers' licenses of Harry Kabakoff, Suey Welch, Abraham R. Nunes, all of Los Angeles, Harry Fine of Sacramento, and William J. (Bill) Graham of Reno. It called for revocation of the promoters' licenses of Jackie King of Sacramento; Murray; and Johnny Munro, Richmond.

Cubs and Crab Orchard Win Kiwanis Games

By David Nelson

The Cubs beat the Reds, 19-4, and Crab Orchard, behind the no-hit pitching by Anderson, defeated the Braves, 12-1, in Kiwanis league games played Tuesday.

Lambert gave up only two hits and walked six, to lead the Cubs to a 19-4 victory over the Reds. Bebout, pitching for the Reds, allowed only seven base hits but walked 13 which accounted for several runs. Kuppert led the winners at bat with a home run and a single and Betz, Lambert, Lucan, Cannon and Riegel picked up one safety each. Gardner and Bebout had the only hits for the losers.

Anderson hurled a 12-1 win over the Braves. Anderson, who struck out 14 in the six-inning contest, allowed only three runners to reach first, two on walks and one on a fielder's choice. Hefner was on the hill for the Braves and gave up only five base hits, but was wild, walking nine as he struck out 11. Chambers led the winners' attack with two safeties and Furlow, Childers and Stanley hit safely once apiece.

ST. LOUIS — The St. Louis Hawks Tuesday night announced the signing of Norm Stewart, 22, former University of Missouri basketball star who holds most of the university's individual scoring records.

Browns to Face Pro Defense by College Stars

CHICAGO — The Cleveland Browns can expect a "pro" defense from the College All Stars in their football game Friday night, but it won't be the same pattern used by the 1955 collegians who upset the National Football League champions.

"Who plays, or where they play, depends a lot on what defense we're using at the time," Coach Don Kindt, former star defensive halfback with the Chicago Bears, said.

"We won't use the same things we did last year," Head Coach Curly Lambeau added. "We'll have some of the same stuff, but we'll have new patterns too. We don't expect them to use the same things they did last year, so we're going to be ready for whatever they might throw at us."

Defensively the All Stars will have as much size and as much speed as the average pro team. Both Kindt and Hunk Anderson, the former Chicago Bears coach in charge of the defense, were high on their defensive backs, Preston Carpenter, Arkansas; Art Davis, Mississippi State, and Gary Glick, Colorado.

They mentioned with nearly as much regard most of the forwards, particularly a pair of rugged ends, James Katsavage of Dayton and John Paluck, Pittsburgh.

Going into the center of the line probably will be such giants as 260-pound Don Goss, Southern Methodist; 270-pound Jim Wolf, Louisville; 235-pound Dick Murley, Purdue, and 225-pound Erik Christensen, Richmond. At line-backers the All Stars probably will rely on Tony Sardisco, Tulane, 215 pounds, and Hugh Pitts, Texas Christian, 206 pounds.

Odds Drop on Princess in Hambletonian

GOSHEN, N. Y. — The "chance of a lifetime" awaited the owners of 20 of the nation's best young trotters today in the 31st running of the $100,603 Hambletonian Stakes in which Egyptian Princess ranked the most likely winner.

The speedy daughter of Victory Song was expected to make the most of this only chance to have her name inscribed on the roster of Hambletonian champions by hauling 63-year old driver Earle Avery to victory in harness racing's most coveted prize. The winner gets $39,155.

The odds on Egyptian Princess dropped steadily. She was rated at 2 to 1 when the 20 three-year olds were named for the race Monday.

Harness racing addicts from throughout the country were here for the classic in this little hamlet in the foothills of Orange County.

Egyptian Princess was expected to be close to even money for the first heat.

The order of post positions for the second and third heats is determined by placings in the preceding dash.

Egyptian Princess' strongest challenger, Saboteur from the Arden Homestead Stable of Goshen, was right outside her.

More than 25,000 trucks, trailers and buses are owned and operated by the nation's railway lines.

Thwart Escape Attempt at Pinckneyville Jail

PINCKNEYVILLE, Ill. (AP)—An escape attempt by a Perry County jail inmate here, was discovered after he had removed three layers of brick with a 16-penny nail taken from a mop handle.

Sheriff Joseph Shirk said Charles Franklin Taylor, 31, Rock Falls, had made an opening about 12-by-18 inches in the southwest corner of the jail.

"He might have made it out if it hadn't been noticed before dark," the sheriff said.

Taylor is awaiting trial after pleading not guilty to auto larceny. The sheriff said Taylor was discharged in July from Menard Prison.

State Exhausts All Funds for Purchase of Salk Polio Vaccine

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The State Health Department today reported it has exhausted all state and federal funds available for the purchase of Salk polio vaccine.

Dr. B. K. Richardson, department deputy director, said $2,687,003 had been spent for the vaccine for free distribution to priority age groups under the federal and state program.

Richardson said the department now has an inventory of about 575,000 doses of the vaccine, but when that is exhausted, there are no funds with which to buy additional supplies.

He said the department "is exploring all the possibilities" of obtaining more money from the U. S. Children's Bureau and the U. S. Public Health Service, through which federal funds were made available to the various states for polio vaccine.

Richardson said if no further federal funds are available for the vaccine, and emergency situations develop after the current inventory is used up, local communities and organizations may have to help out. He said, however, the current inventory may be enough to carry through the 1956 polio season.

The funds already spent included a million-dollar appropriation voted by the 1955 Legislature for polio vaccine. Richardson said no state money is available for purchase of additional vaccine, except about $45,000 in the department contingency fund.

Dr. Ruth E. Church, chief of the department's communicable disease control bureau, said the department has sent 1,630,320 cubic centimeters of the vaccine to Chicago and another half million cubic centimeters to the suburban areas in Cook County since Nov. 1, 1955.

Chicago is now hard hit with recurrent outbreaks of polio requiring emergency measures.

Another 324,000 shots of the vaccine, not included in the state inventory, has been scheduled for shipment to Chicago.

Federal allocations of the vaccine were lifted July 31, permitting the various states to purchase the vaccine in whatever quantities they could obtain, Dr. Church said.

She said Illinois spent the remainder of the money it had in building up its inventory for emergency use in Chicago and elsewhere if it is needed.

The vaccine also has been released for commercial distribution, permitting doctors to purchase it for their patients, regardless of age.

The vaccine bought with state and federal funds were distributed without cost for vaccination of persons in a priority age group established by the state.

Persons under 20 and over six months and expectant mothers are currently eligible for the "free" vaccine, although physicians are permitted to charge regular fees for administering the shots.

Allotment for Farms With No Wheat Acreage For Past Three Years

Farmers on land on which no wheat was seeded for grain for any of the years 1954, 1955, and 1956, may apply for a 1957 wheat acreage, according to Herman Driskell, chairman of the Saline County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee. To be considered for an allotment on a farm which had no wheat seeded for grain for any of those years, the farmer must apply in writing to his county ASC committee by August 31.

Blank applications forms are available at the county ASC office for use in filing requests for allotments.

The "automation" of industry about which so much is heard these days has been helping to mine bituminous coal for years. Coal producers call it "mechanization" but whatever it's called, it means using machines and power to do a job. In America's coal mines it has raised production from six tons per man ten years ago to around 10 tons a day at present against barely two tons per man per day in British and German mines.
